The Lost Bell

The little goat looks for his bell.

The collar is empty. Mauko wants to help.

Mauko listens and follows a little trail.

He sniffs along the path, very slowly.

Achoo! A flower tickles his nose.

Mauko stops and listens again.

Together they walk to the garden.

Something shines under the bush.

Mauko brings the bell back to the little goat.

Ding-dong! The bell rings. What a happy day!
